Halloween can be a great holiday for kids. It can also be dangerous. How can you stay safe on Halloween? This advice will help you.

Don't wear a costume with dark colors. Dark colors make very scary costumes, but they are also dangerous. In the dark, cars can't see you if you wear dark colors. If you wear dark colors, always carry a flashlight.

Don't wear long costumes. If your costume touches the ground, it is too long. When a costume is too long, you can trip and fall. Also, jack-o'-lanterns can start fires on long costumes.

Finally, always show your candy to your parents before you eat it. Sometimes bad people put dangerous things in candy. This advice will make Halloween _____ for you.

Mike was very excited. He had a big date with Stacy. Stacy was the prettiest girl in school. Mike opened his wallet. Oh, no!!! He only had ten dollars. He couldn't take Stacy out to dinner and a movie with ten dollars!

Suddenly, there was a knock at the door. It was Stacy. "Hi, Stacy, please come in," said Mike. "Where are we going for dinner?" asked Stacy. "Well, you know I'm a really good cook. I wanted to make dinner for you," said Mike. "Mike, that is so romantic!" said Stacy. "What are we having?" "Frozen pizza," said Mike. "What? I thought you could cook really well," said Stacy. "I can. My frozen pizzas are great!" said Mike.

When they got to the movie theater, Mike still had all ten dollars. He walked up to the ticket window. "Two tickets, please," said Mike. "That will be $9.50," said the ticket clerk. The clerk gave Mike fifty cents back. Mike put it in his pocket.

There was a large line at the popcorn stand. "Let's get some popcorn," said Stacy. Popcorn was $4.25. "I don't know," said Mike. "It can make you fat." "Are you calling me fat?!! Don't ever speak to me again, Mike!" screamed Stacy, and she ran out of the theater. "Stacy, wait!" called Mike, but she was gone. Mike's date was a disaster.
