A. Reading passage 1

As we all know, cyber-bullying is a major problem on the Internet. _____ on websites are _____. This problem is more serious among children. Our children spread rumors about their schoolmates. They post others' pictures that are private. I feel that we _____. First and foremost, we should teach children _____. Cyber-bullying can put _____, depression, stress, and in some cases, suicide. We should also teach them that _____. For example, they can help prevent serious problems by telling teachers or parents when they see cyber-bullying. _____, we have to set guidelines for their internet activities. Talking about how they are spending their time online would be great. Lastly, we should keep the computer in a public place in the house. This way we can monitor our children if (d) they are bullying someone or being bullied online.

B. Reading passage 2

Most people believe that they will help _____. However, according to the "bystander effect" they might not. This is when a large group of people sees someone in trouble, but nobody does anything about it. The murder of Kitty Genovese in 1964 has been studied _____. Genovese was _____ on a New York street, and she _____ 30 minutes. The people who saw her didn't do anything until she died. How could they not help a person in trouble? There are a few explanations. In a large group, people tend _____. They feel that someone else will help the victim. Another reason is because most people do like everyone else in a group. If no one else helps the victim, then _____ . Finally, many people are afraid of what might happen if they try to help.
